

Board of Commissioners of Cook County

118 North Clark Street
Chicago, IL

Legislation Details (With Text)

---

File #:	15-3116	Version:	1	Name:	COMMEMORATING THE EXTRAORDINARY LIFE AND MEMORY OF ROBERT MCCLORY
Type:	Consent Calendar Resolution	Status:			Approved
File created:	4/28/2015	In control:			Board of Commissioners
On agenda:	4/29/2015	Final action:			4/29/2015
Title:	PROPOSED RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING THE EXTRAORDINARY LIFE AND MEMORY OF ROBERT McCLORY

WHEREAS, groundbreaking journalist, writer, former Catholic priest and award winning journalism professor, Robert McClory died at the age of 82 leaving behind countless students, friends, family and a community profoundly enriched for having known him; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was born in Chicago and grew up on the Southwest Side. After graduating from Archbishop Quigley Preparatory Seminary he attended the University of Saint Mary of the Lake, where he earned bachelors and master's degrees as well as a licentiate of sacred theology; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was ordained as a Roman Catholic priest and began his life as a priest in Winnetka. He later became an associate pastor at Saint Sabina on the South Side of Chicago; and

WHEREAS, while at Saint Sabina, Robert McClory met Sister Margaret McComish, the parish school's new principal; the two immediately formed a strong bond, a bond that would dramatically change the trajectory of both of their lives and bring them immeasurable happiness. After the church released the two from their Catholic vows, Robert and Margaret married and later had a daughter, Jennifer; and

WHEREAS, after changing his focus from the priesthood to journalism, Robert McClory attended Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism; and

WHEREAS, later, Robert McClory taught journalism full-time. He was a treasured professor and was chosen to judge countless journalism competitions. Robert McClory's teaching was singled out for distinction when he was given the Excellence in Teaching Award from the Northwestern University Alumni Association; and

WHEREAS, McClory was a prolific writer. He freelanced for many publications, including the Chicago Reader, Chicago Magazine, U.S. Catholic, Chicago Tribune, Chicago Sun-Times, Catholic Digest, Student Lawyer, Illinois Times and Chicago Lawyer. His book "As It Was in the Beginning: The Coming Democratization of the Catholic Church" won an award from the Catholic Press Association. For over twenty-two years he was an esteemed contributor to the National Catholic Reporter; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was a tireless supporter of racial equality. As a reporter for the Chicago Daily Defender he covered the racial tension that was and is the City of Chicago. The subject of race relations and the Catholic Church was a common theme in nearly all of the nine books he authored. His first novel, The Man Who Beat Clout City featured the struggle of an African American cop taking on the Chicago political machine. He later wrote a book about Saint Sabina's outspoken pastor, his long-time friend Reverend. Michael Pflieger, entitled, "Radical Disciple: Father Pflieger, St. Sabina Church and the Fight for Social Justice."; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was also a playwright, he co-wrote a play entitled "Haunted by God: The Life of Dorothy Day," about the co-founder of the Catholic Worker Movement; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory will long be remembered as a tireless iconoclast. His was an often dissenting voice in the Catholic Church, challenging the papal birth control commission and the church's doctrine of infallibility. He was a frequent and respectful critical of the church he once served; and

WHEREAS, a strong supporter of the Second Vatican Council, Robert McClory was dedicated to church reform, he founded the Catholic Chicago-based reform group Call to Action which grew into a national movement of Catholics focused on justice and inclusion; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory's loss will be most acutely felt by his wife Margaret, their daughter Jennifer McClory, her partner Sarah Klein and their daughter Rose Klein McClory; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Commissioners of Cook County, on behalf of the 5.2 million residents of Cook County commemorates the life of Robert McClory, and herewith expresses its sincere gratitude for the contributions he has made to the Citizens of Cook County, Illinois; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a suitable copy of this Resolution be spread upon the official proceedings of this Honorable Body and that an official copy of the same be tendered to the family of Robert McClory...end

Sponsors: LARRY SUFFREDIN

Indexes:

Code sections:

Attachments:

Date	Ver.	Action By	Action	Result
4/29/2015	1	Board of Commissioners	approve	Pass

PROPOSED RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING THE EXTRAORDINARY LIFE AND MEMORY OF ROBERT McCLORY

WHEREAS, groundbreaking journalist, writer, former Catholic priest and award winning journalism professor, Robert McClory died at the age of 82 leaving behind countless students, friends, family and a community profoundly enriched for having known him; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was born in Chicago and grew up on the Southwest Side. After graduating from Archbishop Quigley Preparatory Seminary he attended the University of Saint Mary of the Lake, where he earned bachelors and master's degrees as well as a licentiate of sacred theology; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was ordained as a Roman Catholic priest and began his life as a priest in Winnetka. He later became an associate pastor at Saint Sabina on the South Side of Chicago; and

WHEREAS, while at Saint Sabina, Robert McClory met Sister Margaret McComish, the parish school's new principal; the two immediately formed a strong bond, a bond that would dramatically change the trajectory of both of their lives and bring them immeasurable happiness. After the church released the two from their Catholic vows, Robert and Margaret married and later had a daughter, Jennifer; and

WHEREAS, after changing his focus from the priesthood to journalism, Robert McClory attended Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism; and

WHEREAS, later, Robert McClory taught journalism full-time. He was a treasured professor and was chosen to judge countless journalism competitions. Robert McClory's teaching was singled out for distinction when he was given the Excellence in Teaching Award from the Northwestern University Alumni Association; and

WHEREAS, McClory was a prolific writer. He freelanced for many publications, including the Chicago Reader, Chicago Magazine, U.S. Catholic, Chicago Tribune, Chicago Sun-Times, Catholic Digest, Student Lawyer, Illinois Times and Chicago Lawyer. His book "As It Was in the Beginning: The Coming Democratization of the Catholic Church" won an award from the Catholic Press Association. For over twenty-two years he was an esteemed contributor to the National Catholic Reporter; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was a tireless supporter of racial equality. As a reporter for the Chicago Daily Defender he covered the racial tension that was and is the City of Chicago. The subject of race relations and the Catholic Church was a common theme in nearly all of the nine books he authored. His first novel, The Man Who Beat Clout City featured the struggle of an African American cop taking on the Chicago political machine. He later wrote a book about Saint Sabina's outspoken pastor, his long-time friend Reverend. Michael Pflieger, entitled, "Radical Disciple: Father Pflieger, St. Sabina Church and the Fight for Social Justice."; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory was also a playwright, he co-wrote a play entitled "Haunted by God: The Life of Dorothy Day," about the co-founder of the Catholic Worker Movement; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory will long be remembered as a tireless iconoclast. His was an often dissenting voice in the Catholic Church, challenging the papal birth control commission and the church's doctrine of infallibility. He was a frequent and respectful critical of the church he once served; and

WHEREAS, a strong supporter of the Second Vatican Council, Robert McClory was dedicated to church reform, he founded the Catholic Chicago-based reform group Call to Action which grew into a national movement of Catholics focused on justice and inclusion; and

WHEREAS, Robert McClory's loss will be most acutely felt by his wife Margaret, their daughter Jennifer McClory, her partner Sarah Klein and their daughter Rose Klein McClory; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Commissioners of Cook County, on behalf of the 5.2 million residents of Cook County commemorates the life of Robert McClory, and herewith expresses its sincere gratitude for the contributions he has made to the Citizens of Cook County, Illinois; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a suitable copy of this Resolution be spread upon the official proceedings of this Honorable Body and that an official copy of the same be tendered to the family of Robert McClory.